

Jimmy Beans Wool December 2006 Newsletter!

In this issue:

- Focus on: Adding a Cable to a Baby Sweater
- Free Pattern: Sandy's Diagonal Baby Blanket
- December Kit of the Month: Soft Lux Deco Throw and Cushion
- The Gifts to Give Corner
- Just in - MuseAbles - Fun Creations for Non-knitters!
- 50% Off Sale - Tahki, Rowan, Trendsetter, Karabella
- Big Yarns = Big Savings: 25%-35% Off Select Biggy Print and Big Wool

Click on any highlighted text to view the item in our online store!

Just Arrived :: MuseAbles Artsy Fiber Kits

Got lots of time this holiday season, but sick of playing card games? These fiber (non-knitting) kits are the ideal activity for creative types of all ages - and you end up with a product way more amazing than a potholder (of course, the potholder will protect your hands from burning). So, take a look at the description below and let us know what you think!

What do you get when you combine the finest yarns and fibers with a soluble film and a creative mind? A one-of-a-kind wearable, displayable piece of art a ~ MuseAbles ~ to be exact! ~ MuseAbles ~ inspires creators to tap their inner muse, and use yarn and other fibers in a fun and innovative way to produce dazzling masterpieces.

At $62, each kit includes well designed combinations of fibers in irresistible color schemes, the soluble film that holds the project together, the thread that laces through the fibers, and crystal-clear instructions. And best of all, one of our good friends is the inspired mind behind these kits! (You've probably noticed that we continually try to showcase products developed by people we know!)

Our local Muse, Dannette, gave one of these a try and here's what she had to say:

I was having a blast because it is so crafty and a non knitter can have fun with amazing yarns and make a scarf. I imagine it as a fun gift for a teen, or anyone actually. You could make it with children helping so it would make a nice family made gift for grandma or whoever...lots of possibilities. Basically it is kind of clever. There is a disolveable sheet of material that you cut to size for what you are making, making sure to leave enough for double...top and bottom like a sandwich. Then you plop down on the floor and play! Cutting yarn and placing it however you like. I really got into it and found it fun and relaxing. After you are done with all the yarn you place the top piece of sheeting on and pin like crazy. Then you sew a grid pattern over the whole thing.

So, channel your inner MuseAble & create some memories this holiday season. You won't regret it!!